Trans-Mississippi Congress Talks on Beauties of Home Country

Salt Lake City, Aug. 29.—With one of the most beautiful views in America spread before them and the breezes of the Great Salt Lake fanning their cheeks, the delegates to the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress gathered at a lake resort yesterday for the afternoon session of the congress found no difficulty in answering the question which began the address of the Rev. E. E. Higley of Denver, "Why See America First?"

They listened also to a paper by Louis W. Hill and read by F. W. Graham of Seattle in which was brought out the kernel of the "See America First" movement which is that when one has seen all the beauties of America he is too old to go anywhere else.

J. W. Kelley of Denver in an address on the same subject paid a fine tribute to the late Phileas S. Harris, founder of the "See America" propaganda. Former Governor Brady of Idaho, whose famous "governors' train" saw much of America, was another speaker. Former Vice President Richard Saxe Jones of Seattle presided at the afternoon meeting.

An illustrated lecture by L. F. Schmeckebier of Washington, D. C., on American scenery, and addresses by A. L. Sommers, Tacoma, Wash.; Roland Cotterill, Seattle, and H. H. Hays of Yellowstone Park made up the night's program.

For the Exposition. In the course of the earlier session today a concrete proposal to demand from the federal congress five million dollars to assist in the preparation of the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco was placed before the delegates. Other demands which must run the gauntlet of the resolutions committee, the floor of the convention and the national government to become effective are for a higher protective tariff on farm products and livestock; a federal department of mining and mines; a more liberal administration of the interior department rules affecting forest and other reserves and further harbor and intercoastal traffic improvements on the gulf coast.

A report rendered by the committee on fire waste indicated that the commissioners had tracked the red-tongued demon to his lair. Finding that 50 per cent of the fires in this country are due to carelessness they had outlined a course of education for children and grownups through schools and newspapers and posters which was submitted to the congress. They laid stress also on holidays set apart in some states for removing inflammable rubbish.

The following vice presidents have been elected by the various states: Arizona, John Orme; California, John C. Pardee; Colorado, W. Alldridge; Kansas, James A. Kimball; Nevada, Frank Lee; New Mexico, W. C. McDonald; Oklahoma, Asa E. Ramsey; Utah, John Derr; Washington, B. A. Crowl.

Louis Hill Talks. In an address on "See America First," delivered before the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress today, Louis Hill, Chairman of the Great Northern Railway Board of Directors, suggested that Uncle Sam ought to erase the faces of some of our illustrious dead from postage stamps and print thereupon the famous scenic spots of the country, as the United States government's contribution in the "See America First" campaign, for which the great railways of the country now are spending millions of dollars annually. Mr. Hill said:

"It is a pity Uncle Sam could not have his observatory telescope adjusted so he would recognize the necessity of contributing to a 'See America First' campaign fund. Even little Switzerland does and she continues to get away with the alluring fallacy that 'the best fishing is always on the other side of the lake.' Uncle Sam has Alps of his own right up in Glacier park. He also has more than a composite of all land beauties to be found anywhere upon the face of the earth. Yet he never advertises the fact. I'd like to see congress wake up to the patriotic necessity of advertising the scenic beauties and natural wonders that are scattered throughout Uncle Sam's domain. What's the matter with beginning by reproducing pictures of these wonders upon postage stamps?"

Inmate Patriotism. There is an inmate patriotism in the American that is immediately responsive to all timely appeals. The latest and most striking pride proof has come from the "See America First" slogan which this year has started the greatest march of tourists ever seen upon the sunset side of the great Mississippi valley. We concentrated upon the appeal, "See America First" and banked the bulk of our advertising fund upon it. It was a wonderful winner, for it stimulated American pride to action. The attendance figures of Glacier National park, Uncle Sam's newest playground, are amazing. "See America First" was constantly identified with the new playground in newspaper, billboard, magazine and through every other publicity medium. The result was fully one-half as many tourists went to Glacier park in the second year of its existence as visited Yellowstone, the oldest park among Uncle Sam's group.

"An Englishman recently expressed surprise that it should become necessary to urge Americans to see their own country first. If the Britisher would only stop and think a minute he would not find it so strange. He forgets that while he can see England almost at a glance the American has an endless labyrinth of trails to travel before he can view the wonders of America. There is a great deal more to that 'See America First' suggestion than would appear upon the surface, for, if the tourist really sees all of the interesting sights in American landscape old age will have crept on by the time he finishes and is ready to take in Europe. The beauty of it is he will not have missed much, judging from the enthusiasm displayed by the foreigner, when he beholds the scenic wonders of our land."

ANDREW B. MORGAN NAMED FOR JUDGE.

Provo, Aug. 29.—In every particular the Democratic judicial convention held here yesterday to nominate a judge and district attorney for the Fourth judicial district was a very enthusiastic one, with more vim and determination than for many years. There were three candidates for the office of judge, and a selection was made on the second ballot.

It was given out that Elmer E. Corfman, who was the nominee of the party four years ago, would refuse the nomination at this time, but regardless of this his name was put before the convention. The other candidates were Andrew B. Morgan and J. W. Whitcomb, Morgan winning out on the second ballot.

There was but one name mentioned for district attorney, and that was James H. McDonald, who was nominated by acclamation. The convention was composed of 103 delegates, seventy-seven from Utah county, fifteen from Wasatch and eleven from Uintah.

J. W. Clyde of Wasatch was elected chairman and I. H. Masters of Utah secretary. A committee on credentials was at once appointed and the convention got down to business without delay, and by 1 o'clock the work was done.

The aged judicial chairman, John B. Miller, was extended a vote of thanks, and J. W. N. Whitcomb was elected as chairman for the ensuing four years.
